OVERVIEW

A Message From Our CEO

2025 saw continued growth for Peakhill with the expansion into several new business lines, such as project advisory, U.S. capital markets, and public fixed income. Our business lines are driven by entrepreneurial talent who join Peakhill because of our culture and success. This progress reflects not only the strength of our platform, but the caliber of entrepreneurial talent we continue to attract.

Although we are now a six-year-old company, we approach each day like a startup, constantly thinking of new ideas to better serve our customers and support our team. We have now surpassed 180 team members throughout North America, located across over 15 key markets to locally serve customers. When we hire, we look for passionate, growth-minded team members who are self-sufficient and can help us scale within their markets or areas of expertise. Our people choose Peakhill because of our culture, our track record of success, and the opportunity to build.

As we completed our team's 2025 KPIs, it was encouraging to see the strong results and productivity achieved across our collective goals. Our KPI framework plays a critical role in aligning individual performance with the company's broader vision. We believe that disciplined goal setting is fundamental to long-term success and growth. The team's average performance scores were well above target benchmarks, demonstrating high productivity and strong execution across our business initiatives. Our employee turnover was limited, reflecting an engaged, satisfied team, ultimately leading to better client experiences. This level of retention is a direct reflection of the culture we have built—one that prioritizes collaboration and accountability. We remain focused on maintaining this momentum by continuing to invest in our people.

Our annual report continues to grow in size alongside the growth of our firm to showcase our milestones and accomplishments throughout the year. Here's a few notable ones I'd like to highlight. We launched several new business lines, including project advisory services, fixed income investing, and U.S. capital markets. Our U.S. operational expansion was supported through closing notable Co-GP equity projects and a strategic acquisition. Our Canadian flagship fund, the Peakhill Income Opportunity LP, achieved top-tier performance, earning a 9.38% annualized return for 2025. Further to this, we completed our landmark bond offering for our LP, where we achieved an A2 credit rating from Midroog, a Moody's affiliate, and raised over $355 million. To complement our strong loan asset management capabilities servicing our $13 billion mortgage portfolio, we achieved a Fitch Servicer Rating.

Growing up as an athlete, I always found it difficult to reflect on the last race or game, even after winning a championship—because I was constantly focused on the next challenge and upcoming season. Throughout 2025, Peakhill achieved accomplishments that some companies take many years to reach, we are proud of what we have achieved. We continue to push forward striving to accomplish even more. Moving into 2026, we are focused on expanding our U.S. capital markets capabilities by significantly growing our team and pursuing additional mortgage banking acquisitions. Based on the U.S. Mortgage Bankers Association's data, Peakhill's 1,000+ loan closings in 2025 rank us as the 7th most active lender in North America. It's possible that in the next few years, we become the largest. We believe this is achievable given our high productivity, entrepreneurial mindset, strong culture, and technology. With our acquisition of Venture Commercial Mortgage, we have added more than eight leading U.S.-based life insurance companies to our roster of capital markets relationships. We aim to further grow these relationships and expand loan production in 2026. We are now active in originating term CMBS loans across the top Metropolitan Statistical Areas (MSAs) in the U.S. and will continue to raise capital to grow our bridge LP, targeting 12%+ net returns. With life company, bridge, CMBS, and equity investment capabilities, Peakhill is a fully integrated capital provider. We recognize that the U.S. market is highly competitive, and we will take a region-by-region approach, growing locally-based teams to build strong relationships. We will also continue to pursue merger and acquisition opportunities with groups that share similar culture and growth aspirations. These may include investment managers in various industries, as well as service-based companies that align with our real estate focus.

We are pleased to have welcomed over 15 new employee partners to the ownership of Peakhill. Team members purchasing company shares shows our team's investment in the business and long-term growth prospects. We will continue to focus each day on elevating the lives of our team, clients, and community. You will see these themes reflected throughout our annual report. We share this report with our partners, clients, and prospective hires as it highlights our values and culture. We enjoy working with like-minded clients and go the extra mile to support them, whether it's through delivering market-leading investment products or executing deals with diligence and discipline. We take pride in making things seamless and better for our clients. As we are in a relationship-driven business, we look forward to connecting soon.

OVERVIEW

About Peakhill Equity Partners

Peakhill Equity Partners (PEP) is Peakhill's opportunistic equity platform, focused on Co-General Partner and Priority Equity investments in ground-up development and value-add real estate projects across North America. Through an entrepreneurial approach, a flexible balance sheet, and deep development expertise, the platform seeks to identify equity investment opportunities that deliver superior opportunistic returns across the capital stack.

PEP's investment strategy is centered on development opportunities in high-barrier-to-entry pockets of top MSAs, including high-growth markets in the U.S. Sun Belt region, such as Dallas, Houston, Nashville, Charlotte, and Atlanta, and coastal markets, such as New York, Boston, Southern California, and South Florida. These markets are characterized by strong rental fundamentals, such as population growth, job creation, and diverse economies.

With a portfolio representing over US$800 million in total capitalization, PEP actively pursues new investment opportunities alongside strategically aligned, best-in-class development partners. To date, PEP has partnered on projects in key markets including: New York, NY; Dallas, TX; Miami, FL; Port Chester, NY; and most recently, Thousand Oaks and San Diego, CA.

$800 Million

in total capitalization across PEP's joint venture equity portfolio

Equity

2025 represented a year of continued growth and execution. As of early 2026, PEP has over US$300 million in projects under active construction, representing approximately 500 units of future market-rate and affordable rental housing. This reflects the ongoing deployment of capital into key opportunities with established development partners while aiming to deliver attractive risk-adjusted returns for our investors.

PEP made several notable investments in 2025. We closed a structured equity joint venture with The Latigo Group for the development of Hillcrest Apartments, a 333-unit Class A multifamily rental community in Thousand Oaks, California, across from the headquarters for Amgen, a multinational biotechnology firm. The project is under construction, with completion anticipated in the second quarter of 2028. In addition, PEP formed a joint venture with The Dinerstein Companies and a large institutional insurance company to develop a 181-unit Class A multifamily property in La Jolla, California. The project is in pre-development, with construction expected to start in the fourth quarter of 2026.

The long-term outlook for rental housing in the United States remains supported by supply-demand imbalances. Industry estimates indicate an undersupply of approximately 3 to 4 million housing units. This structural deficit is expected to support demand for development. Equity capital availability for development has become more constrained, as traditional providers have reduced or re-priced their exposure. This retrenchment has contributed to a more selective investment environment, creating opportunities for platforms like ours to deploy capital quickly.

PEP remains focused on three primary areas of investment: pre-development Co-General Partner partnerships with established developers, structured equity investments across the development lifecycle, and strategic acquisitions in targeted growth markets. These strategies are intended to align capital deployment with market conditions while maintaining a disciplined approach to risk management.

About Peakhill Project Advisory

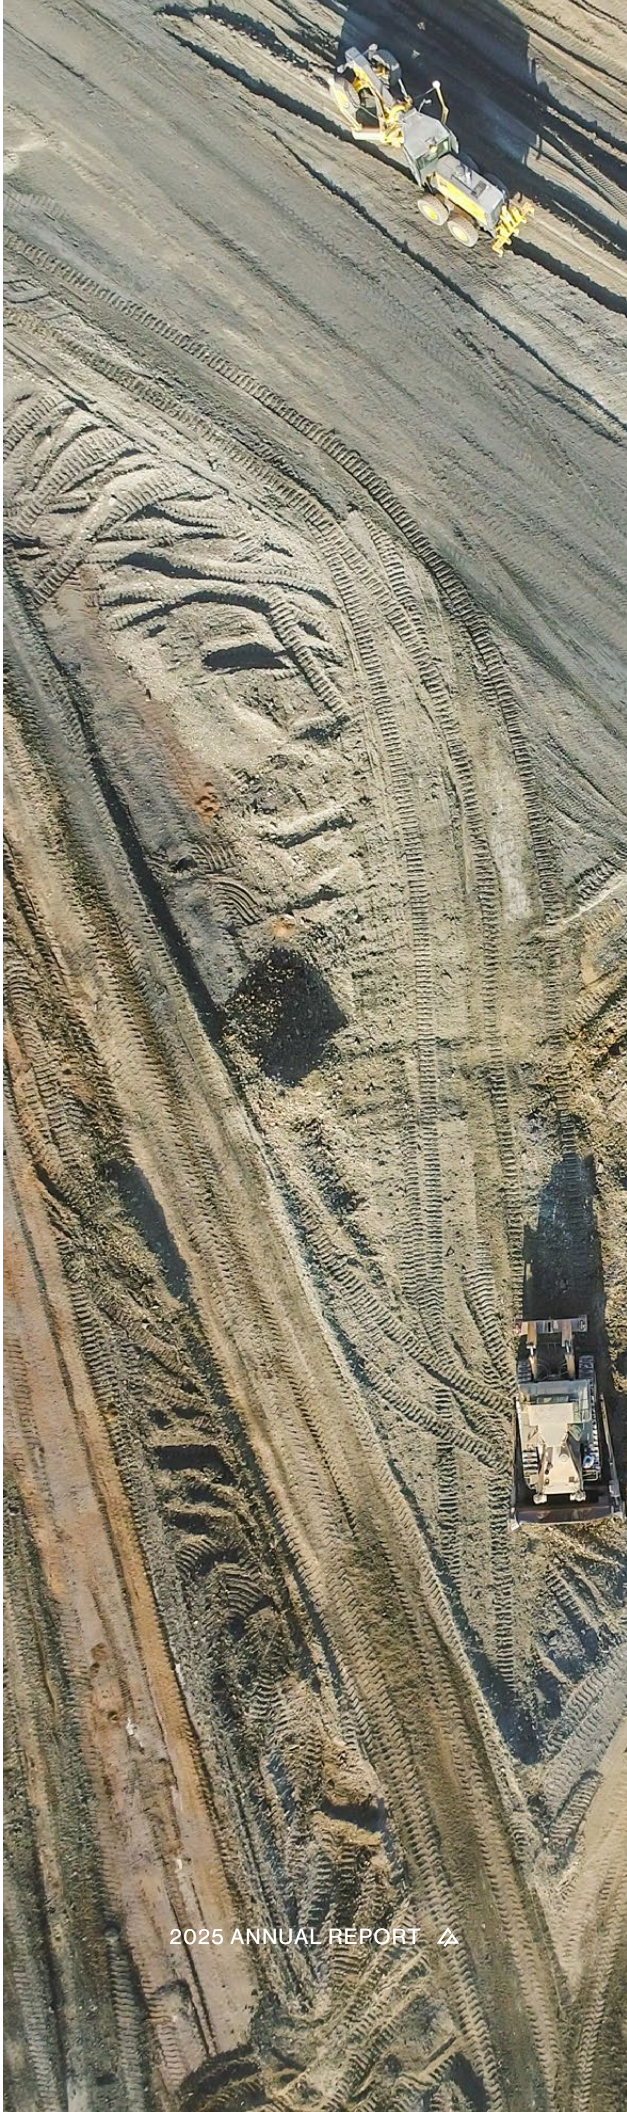
Peakhill Project Advisory (PPA) is an independent project advisory, development management, and project management firm serving commercial real estate owners, lenders, receivers, developers, not-for-profits, and public sector entities.

The firm provides advisory and execution support across the full project lifecycle, including early-stage feasibility and planning, cost consulting, construction review and oversight, lender and receiver advisory, active project and development management, and asset stabilization. PPA specializes in complex, capital-intensive projects where protecting value, implementing disciplined process, and managing risk are paramount.

PPA operates under a senior-led, hands-on delivery model. Every mandate benefits from direct principal involvement, ensuring informed decision-making, transparency, and accountability at all stages of a project.

We deliver projects through a proven, disciplined framework built on early risk identification, clear scope alignment, and structured governance. We protect owner interests at every stage, and ensure development projects move forward with confidence and precision. Our team of project managers are deeply engaged in ensuring all project objectives, stakeholder expectations, and contractual obligations are met. By grounding the project in shared understanding from day one, we execute efficiently.

Backed by the strength of Peakhill's capital platform, our competitive edge lies not only in the ability to manage projects diligently, but where appropriate, invest alongside clients. Our proven processes, industry experience, and commitment to delivering successful partnerships ensure projects are optimally positioned from the very start.



Project Advisory

2025 marked the launch of Peakhill Project Advisory. What began as a deliberate step toward building an independent, senior-led commercial real estate advisory platform quickly evolved into trusted early mandates, allowing the firm to engage meaningfully in complex real estate and construction challenges from the outset.

Throughout the year, our focus was not on rapid growth, but on establishing credibility, delivering consistent execution, and building relationships rooted in trust and accountability. This disciplined approach continues to guide our long-term strategy as we thoughtfully define PPA's role in the market and prioritize sustainable, value-driven growth.

Looking ahead to 2026, PPA intends to build on this foundation by further strengthening its position as a strategic advisor on complex and high-stakes projects where experience, judgment, and clarity are essential. We will continue to deepen relationships, expand select service offerings, and thoughtfully extend our presence across Canada, while also pursuing opportunities in the public sector in a measured and strategic way.

In addition to our project work, PPA will continue to actively contribute to industry dialogue through initiatives such as "The Advisory Table," a Peakhill podcast series featuring thought leaders and influencers in commercial real estate to explore industry challenges and opportunities.

I am deeply grateful for the strong and supportive response from the market following the launch of Peakhill Project Advisory. I remain optimistic about what lies ahead and am energized by the opportunity to continue contributing meaningfully to the industry at large. We thank our clients and partners for their confidence and look forward to continued collaboration in the year ahead.

Sep & Oct

SEPTEMBER & OCTOBER

Inaugural $225M Bond Issuance on TASE

Peakhill completed an inaugural issuance on the Tel Aviv Stock Exchange (TASE) of 5-year, unsecured bonds, totaling $225 million in September 2025, followed by an additional $133 million issuance several months later, which was one of the largest first-time offerings by a Canadian mortgage investment platform. The landmark issuance garnered an A2 rating by Midroog, an affiliate of Moody's, in respect of our Canadian LP mortgage portfolio. Our team participated in a two-week roadshow presenting to over 40 institutional investors, including life insurance companies, pension funds, and mutual funds. As one of North America's fastest-growing real estate investment managers, this marked a major milestone in Peakhill's growth journey.

The oversubscribed debut on the TASE was not just a financing milestone, it was a clear signal of international confidence in our investment platform, our people, and our strategy. By tapping into global capital markets, Peakhill continues to position itself to become a top-tier cross-border lender, serving hundreds of our borrower clients with unmatched speed, flexibility, and scale.

Key attractive features that led us to pursue the issuance included semi-annual payments, the ability to re-access the market in the future, and pricing equivalent to a 250-basis point spread over Canadian government bonds. The bond issuance capital is able to be subordinate to our Canadian credit facilities, enabling our portfolio to grow to $1 billion in 2026. This would put our credit LP among the largest in Canada and the only platform focused on multifamily bridge-to-CMHC mortgage investments.

This was not Peakhill's first entry into the capital markets. In fact, the firm has been active in Canada's Mortgage-Backed Securities (MBS) and Canada Mortgage Bonds (CMB) markets for over five years. We have issued in excess of $10 billion into the Canadian capital markets, where these mortgage bonds are purchased by both domestic and foreign investors. This foundation positioned us to continue expanding our capital markets presence and strengthen investor confidence.

Leader Capital Markets acted as a book runner and lead underwriter for the bond offering. For the offering, Goldfarb Gross Seligman & Co. served as the company's counsel in Israel, and Cassels Brock & Blackwell LLP served as the company's counsel in Canada.

Fitch Servicer Rating

Peakhill's Loan Asset Management department achieved both a Commercial Primary Servicer rating at CPS3 and a Commercial Loan Level Special Servicer rating at CLLSS3 from Fitch Ratings, a leading global credit rating agency that assesses the quality, capacity, and sustainability of a company's loan servicing practices. The primary servicer rating reflects Peakhill's proficiency in servicing our multi-billion-dollar portfolio with both securitized and non-securitized loans, while appropriately using servicing technology platforms and maintaining compliant corporate governance infrastructure. The loan-level special servicer rating reflects the management of specialty loans.

As noted by Fitch Ratings, "Both ratings consider Peakhill's position within the CMHC lending market in Canada, its proficiency of loan servicing, primarily for CMHC loans, its documented policies and procedures, and the company's financial condition, which is adequate to support the servicing platform." This marks a notable achievement for a newer servicer like Peakhill. We are now one of only five Canadian lenders to hold a Fitch servicer rating, further underscoring the firm's commitment to best-in-class servicing standards, institutional-grade investor reporting, and long-term service for valued clients.

Peakhill is proud to share this milestone as our financing platform expands. We look forward to growing our Loan Asset Management team, strengthening our in-house technology processes, as well as continuing to deliver exceptional value. We extend our sincere appreciation to our clients, partners, and stakeholders for the ongoing trust and commitment.

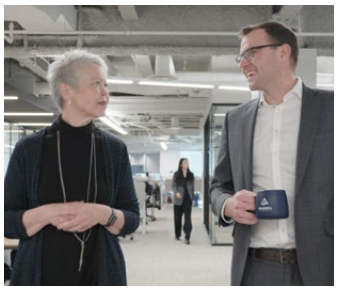
Acquisition of U.S. Mortgage Banking Firm

Peakhill acquired Venture Commercial Mortgage (Venture), a 35-year-old Minneapolis-based commercial mortgage banking firm, with Double Peak Advisors, LLC serving as the exclusive advisor to Peakhill. This marked a pivotal step in Peakhill's expansion across the United States, strengthening its bridge financing capabilities, joint venture equity platform, and life company correspondent relationships.

Founded in 1990, Venture has built a strong reputation across the Midwest for delivering customized financing solutions and long-standing correspondent relationships with life insurance companies. Through this acquisition, Peakhill benefits from Venture's established client network and decades of industry expertise. For both teams, it was a natural fit based on shared values and an entrepreneurial approach that mirror one another. We look forward to growing our national team and united platform serving major markets across the U.S.



Peakhill Year-End Company Meeting

Our annual year-end meeting brought colleagues from across North America together to celebrate and reflect on a year of meaningful achievements. We also hosted our annual employee donation matching program during the meeting, where we collectively raised over $100,000 for over 80 charitable organizations. In celebrating the year-end, we were proud to reflect on how far we've come with the growth, strength, and talent of our team!

2025 HIGHLIGHTS

U.S. Expansion

This year marked an important step for Peakhill Capital U.S., from launching our new investment platform to acquiring a Minneapolis-based mortgage banking firm, scaling our local presence and capabilities.

Peakhill's U.S. credit investment platform focuses on originating and managing short-duration, transitional bridge loans secured by multifamily assets across the U.S. market. The strategy targets existing assets with clear paths to stabilization and refinancing into agency or permanent financing.

The platform combines disciplined underwriting with an emphasis on downside protection, prioritizing loan-to-value, in-place cash flow, and exit optionality. Each investment is evaluated against agency underwriting standards, ensuring alignment with takeout financing from Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac.

The result is a scalable, risk-focused lending platform designed to generate attractive risk-adjusted returns through market cycles, supported by rigorous credit processes, active asset management, and deep borrower relationships.

Our acquisition of Venture Commercial Mortgage further propelled this growth trajectory. What made Venture successful—relationships, trust, and follow-through, remains unchanged. What's new is the added scale, resources, and reach of our broader North American platform.

Our goal is simple: take a strong mortgage banking business and make it better, more consistent, more capable, and more valuable to both our clients and partners. We are focused on delivering clarity, responsiveness, and a process people can rely on. That starts with how we work. Our values, client-first and authenticity, show up in the details: listening closely, asking the right questions early, and being direct and transparent throughout.

We continue to invest in our people and local coverage in the markets that matter. Our growth is intentional. Adding experienced talent and building a national platform that supports clients wherever they do business, while creating opportunities for driven professionals who want to be part of a disciplined, entrepreneurial environment.

A key priority in 2026 is growing our life insurance company correspondent business. These relationships rely on consistency, disciplined underwriting, and transparency. When a life company execution is the right fit, we aim to be the most prepared and reliable partner.

Our full range of capital solutions position us effectively to help clients choose the right path—CMBS for stabilized assets, bridge financing for transitional situations, bank financing when it's most efficient, and agency execution through strong relationships. We will continue to develop new products that add value for clients and correspondent partners. As a member of the Strategic Mortgage Alliance (SAM), a network of over 250 originators in 38 offices throughout the U.S, Peakhill looks to strategically broaden its industry reach.

Looking ahead, we will keep building with discipline, deepening relationships, expanding capabilities, and earning the right to be our clients' first call.

2025 HIGHLIGHTS

Credit & Operations

As the year comes to a close, we recognize the teams, clients, and partners who continue to place their trust in our platform. That trust is not taken lightly as it informs how we make decisions, manage risk, and show up in the market every day.

In a year defined by uncertainty and rapidly shifting market conditions, we delivered $5.3 billion in originations across conventional, CMHC-insured term, and construction lending. More importantly, we did so with consistency and discipline—adapting in real time while maintaining a clear and steady approach to credit. In an uncertain environment, our role was to stay calm, stay responsive, and execute, ensuring clients could continue to move forward with confidence.

Consistency showed up in how we operated. We focused on improving execution. We streamlined application processes, increased coordination, and tightened timelines for submission. The result has been a more efficient workflow, stronger files, and faster turnaround times. This work has translated into a sharper focus on client service, strengthening both the quality of our pipeline and the reliability of our execution.

At the same time, we were operating in a market defined by tightening capital. Shrinking allocations and broader liquidity constraints impacted lenders and borrowers alike. We remained focused on practical, workable solutions to keep transactions moving, while adapting to regulatory changes without disruption. This steady approach provided clarity to clients and allowed us to continue delivering, including growing our insured construction business by 50% year-over-year.

We approach every transaction with sound judgment, working to align outcomes across all stakeholders while keeping client needs at the forefront. We hold true to our core value of client-first—providing clarity, certainty of execution, and practical solutions, while maintaining a disciplined approach to credit. Throughout the year, we continued to strengthen our credit frameworks to improve both speed and decision quality. In periods of volatility, experience matters.

We made targeted investments in our team and regional coverage, particularly in Calgary and Montréal, ensuring we were well positioned to support clients in ever-evolving market conditions.

Looking ahead to 2026, our focus is unchanged: rigor, execution, and a continued commitment to serving our clients with clarity and reliability. In an environment where uncertainty is likely to persist, we see our role as bringing stability, making informed decisions, moving with conviction, and delivering outcomes our clients and partners can rely on.

Insured lending remains a core part of our platform. Our focus is clear: consistent execution, earning our clients' business, and delivering market-leading service regardless of market conditions. The past year reflects the strength, judgment, and professionalism of our team. We are well positioned to build on that foundation in the year ahead.

Investor Relations

Peakhill's Investor Relations function remains central to the firm's growth, supporting capital formation while maintaining clear, consistent communication with our investors. In 2025, the team focused on deepening existing relationships and supporting continued inflows across our platforms, particularly the Peakhill Income Opportunity LP, which marked its five-year track record. This reflects both performance and discipline. The LP generated a 9.38% net return over the trailing twelve months and 9.88% annualized since inception, supported by a portfolio primarily composed of short-duration, income-producing assets. During the year, we increased exposure to government-backed CMHC loans by 15%, enhancing overall credit quality and liquidity while maintaining attractive yields.

Consistent performance has been a key driver of platform growth, attracting both new investor demand and increased commitments from existing clients. This momentum is underpinned by the trust we have built with our clients over time, supporting the evolution of our investment platform. Looking ahead into 2026, we are excited to introduce new offerings across both credit and equity strategies, grounded in the same discipline and alignment that define our flagship fund. Importantly, this growth has been reinforced by how we continue to engage with our clients. Client appreciation events and investor info sessions remain an important part of how we operate, providing a forum for transparent dialogue, education, and relationship-building. These interactions are a core part of Peakhill's values and play a meaningful role in maintaining long-term partnerships.

As we evolve, our focus remains on maintaining a high standard of clear reporting, accessible communication, and disciplined execution. We are grateful for our clients' trust and partnership, and look forward to building on this foundation.

Peakhill Opportunity REIT

Peakhill expanded its investment platform with the introduction of Peakhill Opportunity REIT (P-REIT), a private mutual fund trust designed to deliver institutional-quality, tax-efficient returns to high-net-worth investors. The strategy targets income-producing multifamily real estate across Canada. P-REIT targets net annualized returns of 12-15%.

The Strategy

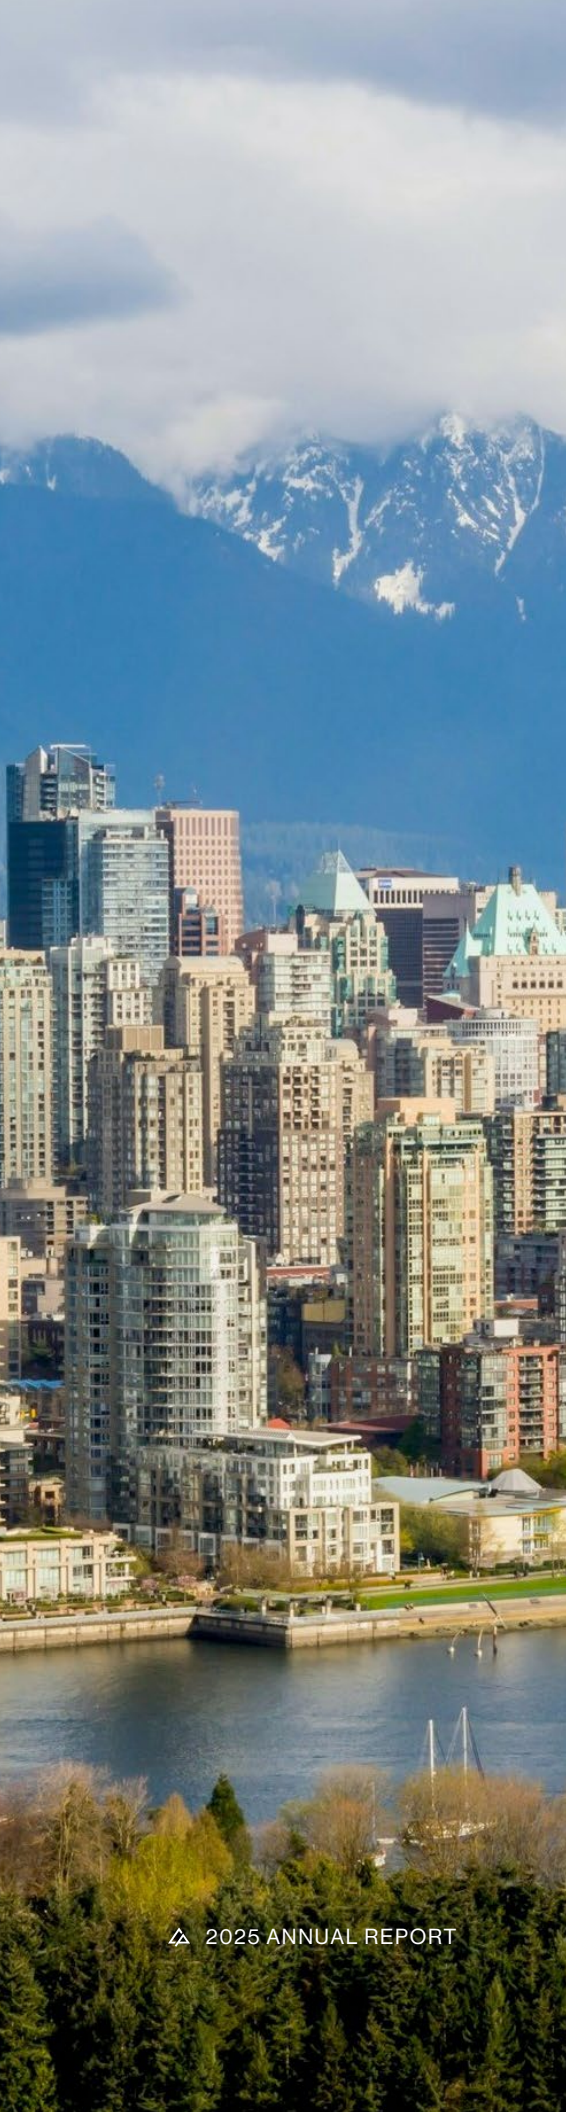
P-REIT primarily acquires vintage apartment buildings (1960s-1970s builds) of 70+ units trading at a significant discount to replacement cost to the equivalent new build. The playbook is deliberate: acquire below replacement cost, execute light-touch renovations, grow rents toward market, and refinance via CMHC-insured mortgages to recycle capital. The REIT also pursues strategic joint ventures with family offices and institutions, and selectively deploys into "Dequity" positions—high-yield structured debt and preferred equity structures offering equity-like returns with debt-like downside protection. Target assets carry 30%+ rent-to-market upside.

Why Now

The current market presents a convergence of tailwinds not seen in over a decade. Motivated sellers are transacting at elevated cap rates. Concurrently, Canada's construction pipeline has collapsed: housing starts are falling sharply as population growth accelerates, widening the supply-demand gap and underpinning long-term rent growth. CMHC-insured financing at low rates create a strong “spread” versus unlevered cap rate yields, generating powerful leveraged returns from the outset.

The Peakhill Edge

P-REIT sits at the center of the broader Peakhill ecosystem, a platform spanning $13 billion in assets under administration, $5.3 billion in 2025 loan originations, and over 180 professionals across North America. This gives P-REIT a decisive edge: proprietary deal flow through Peakhill Capital's CMHC lending relationships, best-in-class financing terms secured with the help of our in-house capabilities, and off-market opportunities sourced through Canada's leading family offices and institutional partners. The Peakhill team has directly underwritten, structured, and closed deals across the full commercial real estate capital stack; P-REIT investor clients benefit from that depth on every transaction.



The Canadian apartment market is presenting a rare convergence of market conditions and P-REIT was built for precisely this moment of opportunity.

Supply is contracting. For the first time in 35 years, we are seeing no new condo projects launching in Toronto. With investor-owned condos historically supplying the majority of rental units in the Greater Toronto Area (GTA), this pullback has direct consequences for future rental supply. Annual deliveries are projected to fall by more than 50% from recent peaks, even as Canada's population growth continues to drive demand.

The current environment, with completions from the existing pipeline still flowing through, has kept near-term vacancy and rent growth relatively muted. That is a backward-looking signal. The forward supply picture is materially weaker, and assets acquired today will benefit from that tightening as the market moves through the current cycle.

Liquidity constraints are creating opportunity. A meaningful share of private real estate capital in Canada is navigating structural liquidity pressures. As some incumbents manage redemption queues and rebalance portfolios, we expect quality assets to come to market alongside a relatively less competitive bidder pool than prior cycles. For a well-capitalized, focused acquirer with certainty of close and access to best-in-class CMHC financing, this dynamic represents a genuine structural advantage we are actively positioning around.

P-REIT is built to execute. Our mandate is existing income-producing Ontario multifamily with CMHC-backed financing, precisely calibrated for this environment. The combination of a contracting supply outlook and a more accessible transaction market creates the kind of asymmetric entry point that patient, disciplined capital is designed to capture. P-REIT is off to a running start and we look forward to sharing some exciting announcements in the near future.

Our efforts are guided by a simple objective: to deliver strategic value and high-quality experiences across every client interaction.

In parallel, we hosted several webinar events, providing clients with timely access to relevant perspectives and information.

This year also saw the launch of new video initiatives, including two podcast series; "Market Minutes" and "The Advisory Table," each designed to highlight various areas of the firm's expertise, invite new perspectives, and drive meaningful conversations. OUR IMPACT

ESG Investing

Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) considerations are an integral part of how we operate and make decisions across our platform. We believe that responsible business practices contribute to stronger, more resilient outcomes over the long term—for our clients, partners, and surrounding communities.

As an investment manager and lender, Peakhill recognizes the importance of deploying capital in a fiscally responsible manner. Our operations focus on financial prudence and risk management.

At Peakhill, we take proactive efforts to uphold ESG principles across our business operations. We strive to support sustainable growth through thoughtful decision-making that positively impacts our internal and external stakeholders.

Through our involvement across national housing markets, access to stable and affordable housing continued to be a defining challenge in 2025. We recognize our responsibility to be part of viable solutions to address this imbalance, which requires greater alignment between capital and evolving housing needs. Peakhill remains focused on enabling sustainable growth and helping address structural needs within the commercial real estate landscape.

Our approach to ESG is grounded in aligning our culture and operations with principles that support sustainability, responsibility, and positive impact. As our platform scales, we remain dedicated to developing best business practices and client solutions that drive long-term value, while working towards building a sustainable future.

Peakhill has been a signatory to the United Nations-sponsored Principles for Responsible Investment (PRI) since 2021 and is committed to the PRI's six principles:

Principle 1 — We will incorporate ESG issues into investment analysis and decision-making processes.

Principle 2 — We will be active owners and incorporate ESG issues into our ownership policies and practices.

Principle 3 — We will seek appropriate disclosure on ESG issues by the entities in which we invest.

Principle 4 — We will promote acceptance and implementation of the Principles within the investment industry.

Principle 5 — We will work together to enhance our effectiveness in implementing the Principles.

Principle 6 — We will each report on our activities and progress towards implementing the Principles.

The six Principles for Responsible Investment are intended to be applicable in any industry. For finance and real estate, the most pertinent features of the Principles that we commit to are:

- Incorporating ESG factors into investment decisions
- Actively managing ESG-related risks and opportunities
- Ensuring investors and investee entities are transparent and accountable

Through applying these principles, our goal is to drive responsible and sustainable growth. The actions we implement today provide the foundation for our future environmental and social impacts.

Environmental

Sustainable Operations

Minimizing our environmental impact while scaling our operations is important in building a strong and sustainable business. Peakhill's adoption of digital processes supports this objective by helping reduce pollution, limit waste, and address broader climate-related challenges.

To support our commitment to responsible investing, we undertake comprehensive environmental due diligence as part of our underwriting process to identify and mitigate risk. A clean environmental site assessment, generated within a year prior to funding, is required for every loan. We continue to work with our borrowers to incorporate clean, energy efficient initiatives into their buildings.

As a CMHC-insured lender, we provide clients with access to tailored financing solutions, including CMHC's MLI Select program, which uses a point-scoring system to reward commitments to 3 social impact pillars: affordability, accessibility, and energy efficiency. By supporting borrowers who prioritize sustainable development, we can help advance the development of resilient housing supply across the nation. In 2025, we financed approximately $2.3 billion in loans under the MLI Select program that met energy efficiency criteria through reductions in greenhouse gas emissions.

OUR IMPACT

Philanthropy

In real estate, a strong portfolio matters, but at Peakhill, strong communities matter just as much. Philanthropy isn't just something we feel obligated to support, it is genuinely part of who we are and has shaped our core values of authenticity and collaboration.

In 2024, our efforts were characterized by a hands-on approach. We rolled up our sleeves and got involved. We didn't just write cheques, we showed up. We prepared meals for youth at local shelters, put together craft kits for children in hospitals, and handwrote hundreds of holiday cards to bring a little warmth to those in need. Our impact came from both our capital and our time.

In 2025, we took a more deliberate, impact-focused approach by investing with intention and increasing our financial contributions to charitable causes we care about. Peakhill contributed $450,000 to over 100 charities and causes across North America. From affordable housing and healthcare to environmental sustainability, we ensured our giving reached the people and places that needed it most.

By focusing our resources on these essential organizations, we have stayed true to our commitment to look beyond ourselves and see the bigger picture. Our giving strategy reflects what our team and stakeholders care about most, and we believe that real leadership requires both empathy and vision.

The best investments grow in value, and impact is no different. Looking ahead, we're more motivated than ever to deepen our social commitment and expand our reach. Our goal isn't to simply maintain what we've built, it is to grow it meaningfully in the years ahead.

OUR IMPACT

People & Culture

We thought 2024 was a growth year, but 2025 well surpassed that! We introduced several new businesses, so we expanded our team accordingly. We were proud to welcome all the phenomenal talent who joined this year. The Peakhill team expanded by approximately 80%, bringing our total headcount to more than 180 professionals.

As our firm scaled, we continued to place a strong emphasis on fostering connectivity and entrepreneurship. We launched an internal meeting series called “Know Your Business," which gave various teams the opportunity to showcase the ins and outs of their operations and upcoming goals. With over 15 sessions delivered to date, this knowledge-sharing program has been a valuable onboarding resource for new employees learning about different areas of the business and how Peakhill operates as a whole.

We expanded our geographical footprint, opening offices in Calgary and Minneapolis, further strengthening how we collaborate and learn. Our lunchrooms are bustling at mid-day, where we eat together, share stories, and laughs! Recurring meetings across our credit, origination, and networking functions remain open for all to participate, promoting high engagement and knowledge sharing. Beyond business operations, our culture is defined by a strong sense of community and celebrating both big and small wins.

Recognition is an integral component of our culture. We installed a bell in the middle of our Toronto head office to bring our “Ring the Bell” moments to life. Through this, we reinforce our collective success, celebrating great achievements like closing notable transactions, hiring great talent, fundraising for key charitable initiatives, surpassing industry goals, and much more!

We continued to invest in our people through professional development initiatives. One of our most successful programs implemented was the Dale Carnegie course. Participants are propelled to expand their leadership, communication, and interpersonal skills through the 8-week program. To date, 3 cohorts of Peakhill team members across various offices have successfully graduated. We consistently see tangible benefits as more individuals put the program's tools into practice, driving strengthened internal and external relationships across the firm.

A key component of our growth has been maintaining the core values we have set since inception. We continued to maintain strong female representation at 33% across the organization, with more than 56% in leadership roles, which greatly surpasses industry benchmarks.

of our team is represented by women

Our summer internship program continued to grow and play an impactful role alongside the expansion of our platform. Interns gained valuable hands-on experience working with our various departments, playing a key role in research, underwriting, and analytics projects.

Beyond contributing to day-to-day operations, our 2025 summer interns took incredible initiative to lead the planning and execution of our largest mid-year team event. We were proud to see many past interns return for multiple terms, which speaks to the strength of the learning experience, mentorship, and relationships built along the way. We take great pride in investing in the next generation of talent by providing meaningful opportunities, reinforcing our culture of growth, and continuous professional development.

2025 has been a banner year, and 2026 will focus on continuing to integrate our amazing talent who support our expanding platform. We remain committed to investing in our most valuable asset, our team, by fostering individual development, strengthening collaboration, and celebrating both the big milestones as well as the everyday wins that define our culture as we grow together. We are Peakhill Proud!
